& then he didn't for weeks & weeks

okay so first the people. did you know in the start of a radio play there used to be a little scene where everyone called one another by their names like eight times so you'd know whose voice was whose

Eight times is a lot

here's that but for this

THOMAS

Do you know his last name?

no? does he have one?

Yeah, I figured.

So this dude is kinda a big deal here. Or was. Is?

Was. What do you think?

he sort of fluctuates between the two on a given day I think He's the oldest of us. Literally and ...meta- . literally? Like he came into the abime first and he's like 19. He's also why it's named the abime. Sorry, the abîme. L'abîme...did you ever take French? I took Spanish.

Figured French was some ~~bourgeois bourgeois~~ bourgeoise bullshit. I guess both are colonizer languages.
But yeah.

i used to know a little bit of french. my dad's from there i think so it was kind of everywhere growing up. like calling eggplants aubergines and stuff like that. but i didn't record any of my recording in french so i think i forgot it when i came in.

Huh. Yeah I never tried thinking of Spanish.

I can look it up but it's not like in my mind anymore.
